47. The Eagle Nebula

As me clicked through the television channels, I favorite science show appear. Launched in 1990, the announcer was saying, “The Hubble Space Telescope has recorded many astounding images for none on Earth. One such image be this picture inside the Milky Way galaxy of the Eagle Nebula.” A brilliant vision of the nebula fill my screen as he continued. “Radiation from nearby stars causes these enormous towers. Of gas and dust to glow. You noticed the globules of gas at the top of the leftmost tower. Each glob may contain newly forming stars about the size of our solar system!” Wow! Where else could I learn as much as I do. From “Outer Visions”?

37. Animated About Art (p. 68)

We<sup>1</sup> were excited to hear about jobs at Magic Carpet Studios! We readily lent our<sup>2</sup> ears to Supervisor Warren of the animation team. “Layout artists make sketches of all<sup>3</sup> scenes for the animated film. Background artists create tone and style, and each animator designs a character. Have you<sup>4</sup> any idea how much research is necessary for the animator’s job?” he asked. We told him<sup>5</sup> that we already knew of artists who practically lived with deer to learn their<sup>6</sup> movements. “The animators draw the extreme movements,” he<sup>7</sup> continued, “but the inbetweeners make all the intermediate drawings. Finally, it<sup>8</sup> is the cleanup artist who<sup>9</sup> draws the most carefully of all. Those<sup>10</sup> who redraw, must add the final touches. For example,” he said as he pointed at a pig’s suspenders, “these two buttons must be added at cleanup. It is the cleanup artist whose<sup>11</sup> work will be seen by you<sup>12</sup>, the audience.”
